Average Total Academic Cost represents the sum of all statutory, designated (including differential tuition), and board-authorized tuition, along with mandatory fees (including college and course fees). It is derived from actual fee bills for resident undergraduate students enrolled in 15 semester credit hours in the fall and spring semesters.

Average Net Academic Cost for all full-time students is derived by subtracting the total need-based grant aid from the total academic costs of all students and then dividing by the total number of students.

As an example: Of all full-time resident undergraduates at UT Arlington, 61.2% received at least one dollar in need-based grant and scholarship aid.

On average, this aid covered 85.7% of total academic costs for this subgroup.

Retention is calculated as the percentage of first-time, full-time, degree-seeking undergraduates who are enrolled in at least 12 semester credit hours (SCH) in the fall semester and are still enrolled at the same initial institution one fall semester later. Retention information may differ from what is reported by the Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board and UT Institutions. The UT System utilizes an internal data warehouse to track student progress over time. Data for UTSA and UTHSCSA are combined and reported under UTSA in the academic section.

UT Austin International transfer students are not included in these calculations because they include foreign exchange students in their reported transfer enrollment numbers. These temporary students are not expected to graduate and therefore should not be included in the graduation metric. When students take out student loans, they are investing in their future. It is important to view loan debt in context with what the future return on investment (ROI) will be. One way to gauge ROI is through earnings outcomes from post-graduation employment (highlights on the following pages). Data for UTSA and UTHSCSA are combined and reported under UTSA in the academic section.

The average loan debt for UT baccalaureates in the most recent graduating cohort was $20,205.

For all Texas public universities, the average was $25,004. The national average for public universities was $27,420.

Each circle shows data for graduates by race/ethnicity for each of the UT academic institutions, that's why there are 9 circles of each color.

The size of the bubble indicates the number of students with loans.

The student debt for most UT System baccalaureates is below both the state and national averages.

Earnings data reflect data for graduates employed full-time for a full year in the State of Texas. The median debt is estimated for those graduates who initially enrolled as first-time-in-college (FTIC) students and who took out loans. For UTRGV, 5th-Year wage outcomes are based, in part, on graduating cohorts from the former UTB and UTPA institutions; all 10th-Year outcomes reflect combined data from UTB and UTPA. Student loan debt for health-related institutions is not included because of the limited number of first-time-in-college students at these institutions, which only admit students who have completed college core curriculum elsewhere. UTSWMC does not offer baccalaureate degrees. UTHSCSA and UTSA earnings data is combined under UTSA.

UTHSCSA has been merged with UTSA. Earnings data for the new medical schools affiliated with UT Austin, UTRGV, and UT Tyler will be reported in future releases as data become available.

Median student loan debt is the median of the student loan debt that borrowers owed at the time they earned their degree. The figures here only include debt incurred at a specific medical school.

National context for medical student loan debt: 68% of graduates had medical school debt. The median medical school debt reported was $200,000 (from the Association of American Medical Colleges (AAMC) Summary of the 2023 Graduation Questionnaire).

Medical school graduates cannot practice without completing at least one year of residency. The length of residency is based on specialty, and most are between 3 and 7 years. The length of residency and specialty has a direct impact on wages. 1st-Year wages are not displayed because all medical school graduates are in residency programs at this time.
